

Wild About Strings!

When: Wednesday Jan 26, 2022
Cost: $10 per participant
Instructor: Adriana Fagan
Location: Online Zoom Meeting – 9:30 am to 12:30 pm

Adriana loves making scrap quilts and has recently gone wild for strings! Learn a bit of string quilt history and see the amazing quilts you can make with your cut-offs. Adriana will show many examples and teach a few basic blocks during this 2.5 to 3-hour workshop.

Please have the following supplies ready for class: scraps, strips and strings (less than 2") in a mix of darks and lights; pencil; ruler; and basic sewing supplies. You will also need paper to serve as foundations. Newsprint, old phone book pages or other thin paper works well.

Adriana's quilting career began 40 years ago when she started making quilts for Cabbage Patch dolls and progressed from that humble beginning. She learned a lot on her own, took a few classes, and fondly remembers the innovation of the rotary cutter.

An active member of our Guild, she lives in Guelph with her husband. She dotes on her children, grandchildren and great-grandchild when she's not in her quilting studio. Her entire family has more quilts than they need so Adriana spends most of her quilting time sewing for charity ~ a focus and pastime that brought her great comfort throughout the coronavirus pandemic.
